Student participation at the HR in Hospitality Conference allows our industry’s future leaders a phenomenal learning experience above and beyond their normal education received at Cornell. Attending industry events provides students with opportunities for networking, knowledge sharing, and direct interaction with the industry.

For a $1,000 donation you send a student to the industry’s leading HR conference. The student you sponsor will gain access to over two full days of sessions focused on their specific area of study along with the opportunity to network and interact with industry leaders working in their field of interest. Each sponsored student will be attending the CIHLER networking reception during the conference and will be paired with their industry sponsor.

To learn more about this opportunity to support student education, please contact Jenn Macera (js372@cornell.edu or 607.255.3101) or Erica Heim (erh72@cornell.edu or 607.255.6574).

“Events like the HR in Hospitality Conference help prepare students for what comes after commencement and therefore help maintain the reputation of excellence that professionals expect from Cornell graduates.” – Joshua Hughes ’14

“Everything, from the sessions to networking, challenged us to apply our knowledge of human resources, law, and the hospitality industry to real world applications in discussing how to further innovate and adapt to constantly changing landscapes.” – Karim Lakhani ’14
